BROTHER WILL COME FOR ALESKO'S BODY

Thursday River Victim Has Relatives in This Country—Companions Regret His Death.

It is expected that a brother of Alesko, the young Serbian who was drowned Thursday just above the new railroad bridge, will arrive from Keokuk, Iowa, to take charge of the remains. Alesko's fellow workmen on the bridge are much disturbed over the suggestion that they watched him drown without making any effort to rescue him. But a few of them were on the structure at the time of the accident and none of these were near enough to be of any use as the man sank at once. Today is payday for the Cleary-White employees and over $4,250 was paid. The hundred odd men employed on the bridge took this afternoon. Superintendent Burgett returned from Elroy as soon as notified of the accident Thursday.

REPRESENTS U. S. AT MARITIME CONGRESS

Andrew J. Montague.

Andrew Jackson Montague, a former governor of Virginia and now a congressman from that state, has been appointed as one of the delegates from this country to the international conference on the unification of maritime law, which will meet at Brussels late this summer. Congressman Montague is a lawyer in his state, beginning with U. S. attorney for the western district of Virginia, under President Cleveland's administration. He was born in 1862 and is a lifelong Democrat.

ANNUAL CONVENTION PROVES A SUCCESS

County Clerk H. W. Lee Returns From Appleton With Enthusiastic Account of Clerk's Meeting.

It was the best attended and most enjoyable convention that the county clerks' association has ever held, was the verdict of County Clerk Howard W. Lee today in commenting on the annual session which has just closed at Appleton. Mr. Lee returned to Janesville last evening. Both in the matter of entertainment for which the city of Appleton and its citizens were responsible, and in the business transacted by the association was the convention a splendid success. Mr. Lee was enthusiastic in his account of the hospitality extended to the officials. Several elaborate banquets, one by a firm of office supply manufacturers, and another by the Elks, were most enjoyable affairs, and extending on the Fox river and Lake Winnebago as well as inspection trips to various manufacturing institutions prominent among which was the paper mill at Kimberly, also contributed largely to the entertainment feature of the week.

From a business standpoint the meetings were most profitable. An excellent program by persons who were experienced on the matters discussed and valuable suggestions which were forthcoming in the round table talks, combined to make the sessions valuable to the members. "What the county clerks are striving to do," said Mr. Lee today, "is to benefit themselves and the county by adopting as far as possible the best and latest methods and systems of doing the county's business. We want to meet the state commissions half-way, especially the tax commission, in order to work in harmony to secure the best results."

FAMILY OF INDIANS AMONG ATTRACTIONS

Interesting Tribe of American Aborigines Will Visit Janesville During Chautauqua Week.

Among the attractions which will be provided for Janesville during the week's entertainment by the National Lincoln Chautauqua system the latter part of July, is a family of New Mexican Indians, representing an unusual branch of the American aborigines. Governor Hallario Vigil of the Tesuque tribe, in New Mexico, will arrive in this city for the second day of the Chautauqua. These village Indians are the strongest people in the world. They have the maternal form of government. The women propose marriage and the husband often is compelled to take the wife's name. This property is held in the name of the women and they do all the manual work, often care for the babies and weave cloth for the women's clothes. They make pottery and till the soil, but live in villages and are descendants of the Cliff Dwellers. This will be a study in ethnology. In the party will be the governor's son and daughter, a sister and also a daughter of the queen, and a real curiosity—a little papoose. There will be seven or eight in this very interesting company.

There will be an address by the governor, and home scenes and industries in the afternoon, closing with the scenic presentation, "A Day in Tesuque," with Indian songs and music. They will close with their Eagle Ceremony, Dog Dance, and War Dance.

FIRST PICNIC HELD BY ECONOMICS CLUB

Ladies of Emerald Grove and Avalon Hostesses at First Outing of the Season.

The summer club of Household Economics held their first picnic of the season at Emerald Grove on Thursday. The ladies of Avalon and Emerald Grove were the hostesses of the occasion and proved themselves to be royal entertainers. The guests assembled about 11:00 o'clock at the Emerald Grove church, coming by train, auto and private conveyances. A bountiful dinner was served by the ladies of the church at the noon hour to about one hundred guests.

The regular meeting of the club was called at 2:00 o'clock, when the business of the association was taken up, the president Mrs. Rasey of Beloit presiding. After the reports had been given Mrs. Strickler was elected secretary in place of Mrs. Lowery who had sent in her resignation. Mrs. Ruppill, chairman of the philanthropic board, was asked to outline their plans for the season's work. She stated that the scheme of having the group of Chicago children sent here for their fresh air outing appealed to her as the best work that could be done present by the club, and she asked for the co-operation of those present for that purpose. A motion was carried that the club endorse the movement and a collection was taken up and over $16 was secured by the collection.

A report of the district convention meeting held in Evansville in April was given by Mrs. Amy Richardson who was well received and discussed. Mrs. Bertha Hall then gave a very instructive and interesting talk on the Panama zone and canal. It was illustrated by the map and contained many personal suggestions and incidents.

Delightful instrumental music was furnished by two young ladies of the Grove and a series of helpful suggestions were offered by Mrs. George Grogan. Many out of town ladies, from Footville and Ordville and over, besides those from Janesville, attended the meeting. Mrs. Vic Campbell and Mrs. Amy Richardson came down from Evansville to attend the meeting.

FORTY-SEVEN APPLY FOR SALOON LICENSE

At Least Six of Number Can Not Be Granted Because Outside Zone or In Conflict With Baker Law.

Fifty applications for licenses to sell intoxicating liquor have been received by the city council, three from breweries, and forty-seven from saloons. Of the forty-seven at least six, and possibly seven will be turned down because the places applied for are outside the zone prescribed by the council or in conflict with the terms of the Baker law. Those of Fred Rau for 512 West Milwaukee street, and James Kennett for the Keigues saloon on South street, can not be granted for the reason that they are outside the prescribed zone. The Joseph Croak application for 15 South Main street was illegally granted by the council through a misunderstanding of the law last year, and can not be considered this year.

The Baker law prohibits the issuing of a saloon license for premises not privileged with one previously after the city alderman has its seal and premises, nor can it grant a license for premises within 300 feet of a school building unless they have been used for the sale of liquor before the enactment of the law and the business has not changed hands.

Ruled out of consideration by this law are the applications of James J. Kelly for 21 North Academy street, and Peter Goodman for 413 West Milwaukee street, the old W. Knapp stand. There is at present no saloon in the location for which a license is asked by Kelly, and as the license for the W. A. Knapp stand was revoked and it is within 300 feet of the Lincoln school the council has no right to grant the applications made for either place. The John Casey location, 405 West Milwaukee street, is also within 300 feet of the same school, but is not a renewal of a license because the saloon was in existence before the Baker law was enacted. The application of N. E. Parke can probably not be considered for the reason that it is asked for premises, 301 West Milwaukee street, already applied for by Timothy McKeigue.

The case of Carl Heise, who has applied for a license for No. 52 and 54 North Franklin street, is doubtful for the reason that the part of the building in which the saloon is now situated is outside the segregated zone. By moving the bar into the other side street, he may be able to meet the requirements. The council, however, would have to amend its resolution to permit of forty-one saloons.

A petition, signed by eighty-nine citizens, has been filed with the clerk calling upon the council to grant forty-one saloon licenses, one of whom shall be to Carl Heise, proprietor of the Interurban hotel at the corner of North and Bank streets. This the petitioners ask for the reason that Heise is a poor man with a large family who has all the little he possesses in this business. He is a law-abiding citizen whom, it is believed, will conduct an orderly place of business and obey the laws and ordinances.

All applications for saloon and brewery licenses were due last Monday, June 16, and are now being published in the Janesville daily papers. Action will be taken on them by the last meeting before July 1.

INSTITUTE ALUMNI SESSION IS OVER

Election of Officers and Concert Last Evening Mark End of Gathering.

With the election of officers, revision of their constitution and the closing concert, the seventh triennial convention of the alumni of the Wisconsin Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, its work and today the hundred odd members who have been in attendance are leaving for their homes. W. Parks of Allison, Iowa, was chosen president. Fred Klumpp of Beloit, Wis., was chosen vice president. M. A. Galloway, Fond du Lac, secretary. George Luenberger, Milwaukee, treasurer. At the request of Supt. Hooper to President F. C. Croak, W. B. Nash, Malcolm Jeffries, J. B. Bliss, Michael Smith, Edward Haskins, Frank Mount, George Decker, Carl Brockhaus, John P. Cullen, Edward Winslow, William McNeil, G. H. Bauer. At the evening session of the alumni a vote of thanks was passed to the twenty-two sand club and the gentlemen who donated the use of their cars, for their kindness.

INVESTIGATION IS MADE OF PICKPOCKET CHARGES

Investigation of an alleged robbery of an Avalon man by a pickpocket on a train between Gardwile and this city last Wednesday morning was dropped by the police this morning when it was found that the victim of the latter would not be able to identify him if found. The Avalon man notified the conductor on the train who in turn notified the police in that city placed him under arrest. He gave the name of Martin Clark and the Monroe chief of police was under the impression that he would plead guilty. In the meanwhile, the complainant, whose name and address were unknown disappeared. This morning when the same conductor came up on the St. Paul train from Chicago, Chief Ransom and Patrolman Fanning arranged to meet him. He did not know the name of the complainant but said he was a section-man at Avalon. His loss was only $1.50 instead of $10 as first under the impression that he was a pickpocket. The Monroe police will probably be telephoned to release the suspect for whom a warrant had been drawn.

OLD JANESVILLE RESIDENT PASSES AWAY IN CHICAGO

Dr. Samuel G. Bailey Dies in Chicago Yesterday at Advanced Age of 82 Years.

Dr. Samuel G. Bailey, an old resident of Janesville, and a prominent Chicago physician, passed away at his home in Chicago on Thursday. Dr. Bailey resided in Janesville from 1855 to 1870. His home was known as "the big house on the hill" and his residence now occupied by Mrs. Julia Myers on East street. He is survived by one son, Edward Sinclair Bailey and one daughter, Bessie Bailey Ramsey.

WILL PAVE STREETS IN RIVERVIEW PARK

Council Orders Macadamizing of Garfield and Vista Avenues Bordering Upon Square.

Improvement of Garfield avenue from Clark to Carrington street and Vista avenue from Logan street to Garfield avenue by macadamizing was one of the orders to come before the City Council for its approval this afternoon. The sections of the streets indicated border upon the north and south sides of the Clark and Logan streets, and it was decided that they should be improved in a more substantial manner. It is proposed to put down a comparatively light macadam. Some sidewalk orders were also to come before the Council.

CARELESS DELIVERY CAUSES COMPLAINTS

Health Officer Buckmaster Receives Protests That Bakers' Boys Disregard Sanitary Precautions.

Complaint was made to Health Officer Dr. S. B. Buckmaster this morning that the men driving some of the bakers' delivery wagons in the city are showing an almost total disregard of all sanitary precautions in their handling of bread. Where two or more wagons have been left standing together, the horse of the rear wagon has been seen to pull up, poke his head and stick his tongue out the front and lick with his tongue the uncovered and unwrapped loaves. There was nothing to hinder him from making a lunch out of some of them if he desired to do so. It has also been reported that delivery boys handle the perspiring horses and oily harness and without removing their gloves wash their hands pick up and carry unwrapped bread. Drivers of automobile delivery wagons have also been complained of in some instances because of their handling of machinery and bread or unprotected groceries indiscriminately. Dr. Buckmaster has no authority to act on these complaints as it does not come under his jurisdiction, but rather that of the State Dairy and Food Commission. He would advise, however, that a warning be taken by those who have been negligent, and that grocers and bakers take greater precautions in protecting their food stuffs in delivery.

Twelve contagious disease cards were put up by the Health Officer last week, most of them for measles. Four of the cards for measles are still up. Of the eight cases of measles six were cases from out of town and the remaining two or children who had contracted it by contagion from them. There is one very mild case of diphtheria in the city but the patient is almost well. The case has not yet been taken down because the state law requires that the quarantine be maintained for fourteen days.

Dr. Buckmaster is receiving daily complaints that the tenant owners of certain premises are negligent in the removal of garbage or other objectionable and unsanitary rubbish. He is investigating them as rapidly as possible and serving notice on the delinquents to clean up.

In view of the fact that the quarantine provisions of the state law are so often misunderstood, the Health Officer has made the following abstract of them:

Cases requiring fumigation quarantine and placard: Asiatic cholera, yellow fever, smallpox typhus, bubonic plague, diphtheria (14 days), scarlet fever (21 days), cerebral meningitis (14 days), tuberculosis (no card), infantile paralysis (21 days), erysipelas.

Placard no quarantine: Measles, whooping cough, chicken pox, typhoid fever.

SENIOR PARTY WILL BE GIVEN TONIGHT

Annual Dance Will be Held in Assembly Hall—About Two Hundred Couples Are Expected to Attend.

The annual senior party, which closes the activities for the 1913 graduating class of the high school, will be held in the Assembly hall tonight. Much preparation has been made for this occasion by the committee in charge. The hall is substantially decorated with white streamers across the room and yellow streamers, them about the walls. The floor has been put in excellent shape by the addition of a good coat of the best wax. Close to two hundred couples are expected to attend, among whom will be many alumni couples. The high school students will comprise a good share of the crowd, which has helped to make past senior dances a huge success. The committee have arranged a neat program of the latest dances and musical selections, which will be played by the Hatch orchestra with a concert. This concert will occupy half of the evening after which dancing will form the pastime until one-thirty. The committee in charge of the party are the Messrs. Ralph Soultman, Benjamin Kuhlow, Harold Mohr and Joseph Ryan.

CITIZENS ARE IN HASTE TO HAVE STREETS OILED

No Less Than Seven Persons from as Many Different Streets Made Application This Morning.

That Janesville citizens are in haste to get their streets oiled was shown this morning when no less than seven persons from as many different streets stopped at the city hall on the street and requested that their respective streets be oiled immediately. In the nature of things prompt action is necessary as streets are oiled only on the petition of a majority of the property owners in a block or series of blocks, and the petitions must be formally granted by the council in session. Where there are weeds on a dirt street to be oiled they will be cut although the presence of a few inches of sod on either side will not delay the oiling when the city is ready to put on oil.

WILL START FOR CONVENTION BY AUTOMOBILE ON SUNDAY

Janesville's delegates to the coming state gathering of the F. O. E. will leave on Sunday for Manitowish where the convention will be held June 24, 25 and 26. Those who will make the trip with Mr. Nichols are Hugh Joyce, Jr., Fred Schmidt and Fred Connors. There will also be a delegation from the local aerie in attendance at the convention on the day of the big parade.

W. C. T. U. ENTERTAINS FOR MRS. D. H. JONES

Members of the W. C. T. U. surprised Mrs. D. H. Jones at her home on Madison street on Thursday afternoon. The occasion was a farewell to Mrs. Jones who will leave the city within a few days to make her home in Illinois. She has been a faithful temperance worker in this city and her services will be seriously missed by the local union. She received a beautiful piece of silverware from the ladies as a remembrance.

For blues just try this once or twice. Lay down a blunt—and sacrifice.

A BEAUTIFUL DOLL.
When Ban Johnson's umpires blossomed out in white uniforms Decoration Day they not only made a very agreeable impression on all the ladies present but also provided a little amusement for the players. Some of the umpires, of course, had to go to the limit and get a shine and Connolly seemed to be particularly dolly.

Hughie Jennings was very much taken with Connolly's daughter, just like a millionaire's daughter, said Hughie. "Very neat and nifty, my boy," and he offered to put the white clad umpire on the back, whereat Connolly let out a yelp and jumped six feet. "Off that stuff, I'm wise to you," your kids are nice and dirty and you'd like to grab my swell looking garb. Roll your hoop, and Hughie didn't get by with his little prank.

RUCKER'S NEW SHOOT.
Through an injury to his thumb, Nap Rucker has developed a new shoot immediately labeled the "thumbless ball." Rucker injured his thumb a week or two ago trying to stop a fast one and Dahlen sent him in to pitch anyway, even though his thumb was somewhat disabled. Nap found that he couldn't use his thumb in clamping the ball but was obliged to get the ball away using only his fingers. The effect was a curve-some-what similar to Matty's fadeaway, though a little higher. The thing was deceptive and Rucker got away with it, pitching a two-hit game against Cincinnati. Nap is so well pleased with his discovery that he expects to make the new one a frequent performer in his already ample supply of twisters.

A HUSKY COLLEGE.
Mugsey McGraw has his eye on a college boy who he thinks has all the qualities of a winner. Reilly, Yale's third baseman, is the party that Mugsey thinks well of and the Glad leader doesn't hesitate to say that the lad interests him immensely. According to McGraw, the Blue infielder handles himself very much like Bill

Bradley, has a wonderful build for a third sacker, and a great reach. McGraw thinks he looks like the real thing, but when asked didn't seem to have any plans of trying to sign him. The boys up there as a rule don't care to go to college and as they are generally only half way through their college course I don't care to bother them. McGraw is rather partial to college players and has about a dozen on his payroll now with several to report soon and three or four farmed out in the bushes.

PALMYRA NINE WINS ON LOCALS' ERRORS

Connell pitches Masterful Ball, But Errors by Teammates Prove Fatal—Score Five to Four.
The Palmyra high school baseball nine proved to be superior to the Janesville Cubs yesterday afternoon at Palmyra, when they defeated the locals by the close score of 5 to 4. The game was an interesting one to witness, and there was close to five hundred rooters on the sidelines rooting for the Palmyra nine. It was Old Settlers' Day at Palmyra and every person in the small village turned out for the game. Connell was sent to the mound for the Cubs. He performed well, as Palmyra failed to touch him, until errors on the part of the entire Cub team discouraged him, and then the game was safely in the hands of the Palmyra nine.

In the first inning, the locals threatened to score, but a double play by Palmyra stopped the attempt. Palmyra succeeded in scoring once in the first inning. No more scoring was done until the third inning, when Palmyra added one more run. In the fourth inning they lambasted Connell, securing a couple bases on balls and two hits, thereby netting three runs. Connell would have pitched himself out of the fourth inning safely but for the bad errors made by the locals.

No more scoring was done by Palmyra after the fourth round. In the fourth and fifth innings, the Cubs got to the Palmyra pitcher for several good hits and two runs in each inning. This made the score five to four in favor of the high school nine. The locals could not score. Connell was holding Palmyra safe, for after the fourth inning, he pitched wonderful ball, tightening up in the pinch. The Palmyra nine secured five hits off Connell, while the Cubs took to Meiden for eight swats. The lineup and score by innings is as follows:
Palmyra—Stacy, c; Meldeon, p; Joliffe, 2b; Apil, ss; Hildt, 1b; Nelson, 3b; Hassett, cf; H. Stacy 1b; Scheverer rf.
Janesville—J. Ryan, ss; Cronin, 1b; H. Ryan, 3b; Wilson, c; Connell, p; Kennedy, cf; J. Stewart, 2b; Kuhlow, lf; Falter rf.
Score by innings:
Palmyra 1 0 1 3 0 0 0 0 5 5 2
Janesville 0 0 2 2 0 0 0 0 4 8 5
Umpire—Reno Koch Janesville.

A Relic of History.
A newly rich woman, who was anxious to make a favorable impression in her neighborhood, decided to show her collection of antiques to the bishop when he called. The time came, and one by one, she displayed the whole collection, giving him the history of each piece. "There," she said, pointing impressively to an old yellow teapot, "that teapot was used in the Boston tea party."

ITHICANS LOOK LIKE WINNERS IN INTERCOLLEGIATE REGATTA

Cornell varsity eight on the Poughkeepsie. Last year, against such splendid crews as those from Wisconsin, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Stanford, the Cornell varsity eight won the intercollegiate regatta on the Poughkeepsie in 19 minutes 31.2-5 seconds, coming in just four seconds ahead of Wisconsin, their nearest competitor. This year, against a much stronger aggregation, Cornell expects, not only to duplicate last year's victory, but to lower her former record.

GOOD HORSES DRAWN BY HIGHER PURSES

Early Closing Entries For Wisconsin State Fair Indicate That 1913 Races Will Be Exceptional.
(Special to this Gazette.)
Madison, Wis., June 20.—Early closing entries for the races at the Wisconsin state fair, Sept. 8-12, as announced by Secretary J. C. MacKenzie, of the state board of agriculture, indicate that the increase of purses to near the $25,000 mark this year has a very satisfactory effect, and that the horse events at the 1913 exposition will be of unusual attractiveness and merit. Listed already are 134 of the best horses now following the various circuits.

Wisconsin was more fortunate than other states in that only two of the early closing events failed to fill. A special committee of the board will meet today and doubtless will arrange for the reopening of the three-year-old race, which failed by a narrow margin with indications that there would be many more applications later. The 2:24 pace also failed to fill, and as there is much sentiment in favor of free-for-all harness events it is possible that the money will be staked for a free-for-all, free-for-all pace, or both. An interesting feature is the fact that many new horses and owners attracted by better purses and Wisconsin state fair prestige, are listed along with practically all of the former reliable entrants.

HE'S SOME MANAGER, AND A PLAYER TOO

Burt Keeley.
Burt Keeley, the dapper little pitcher who held down a box job for several seasons with the Washington Americans, is piloting the Chicago team of the newly-formed Federal league this year. So well is he holding down his job that Chicago now leads in the race for pennant honors.
Keeley is by no means a has-been, though this seems to be the impression in the major leagues. His work in the new organization indicates that he is far from though yet in the pitching line.

FREE-FOR-ALL RACE AT BIG AUTO MEET

Officials of Event on Janesville Track Next Week Make Announcement of Interest to Amateur Drivers.
A free-for-all, non-stock event for a distance of five miles will be put on the program of races for the big auto meet next Wednesday afternoon, open to amateur drivers in and around Janesville, according to an announcement made by the officials of the meet today.

The entry list will be open until Monday noon and those wishing to enter may see Huff Dorwood at the Myers Hotel and in the event that enough entries are secured to make a race, a prize will be hung up and the event entered on the afternoon's program.
Due to the fact that the meet is held under the sanction of the contest board of the American Automobile Association, it will be necessary for all drivers taking part in the meet to secure a drivers license from the national controlling organization and after Wednesday's meet the Janesville track will be licensed for automobile meets under the A. A. A. sanction.

Any record made next Wednesday will be officially recognized by the A. A. A. and in the event that Disbrow lowers the five mile record, he set for the state of Illinois at Galesburg, it will go down on the official records of the organization to the credit of Wisconsin.

The announcement that Disbrow would try to give the state a better mark than is held by the Galesburg track has stirred a lot of comment among Janesville speed bugs and they will be out to see him better than 4:40 for the five miles.
With as good weather as he had on the great Illinois mile circuit, the speed king's chances are thought to be better than an even break to lower the mark. The Janesville track is in the best condition for automobile racing than the Galesburg track and the turns are banked, while he was forced to fight flat turns at Galesburg.

Another condition in his favor, here, is the fact that the lower turn is short, giving him longer stretches and Disbrow himself has stated many times that speed history was being made on the stretch nowadays and not on the turns, as in the pioneer days of Barney Oldfield, and the Simplex is equipped with enough power in her engine to pick up all the spare second on the long stretches.
The shape of the Janesville track will make Wednesday's races the most sensational held on any circuit in this part of the country. With a wide, banked upper turn to go in to at the rate of sixty miles an hour off the home stretch, the pilots can go into the back stretch with their powerful engines wide open and pick up all the time lost, shutting off for the last turn.

VISITING GOLFERS ENJOY THEIR GAME

Players from DeKalb Guests of Local Golf Club on Thursday.—Return Home by Automobile.
Nine golfers from DeKalb arrived in Janesville yesterday morning by automobile from their home city, and were the guests of the Janesville Golf club. Luncheon was served at noon and in the afternoon eighteen holes were played, the visitors being paired with local players who escorted them over the course and incidentally turned in a much larger score than the visitors owing to the fact that the course was unfamiliar to them and several of them were beginners at the game. After the game a dinner was served the guests and they returned home by automobile, making the round trip one hundred and forty miles in all. Among the visitors from DeKalb were: G. Graham Galbraith, E. B. Elwood, C. E. Blatt, A. W. Fisk, G. W. Baldwin, John Taylor, E. J. Raymond, and Harry Fish. The local members of the golf club who entertained them were Al. Schaller, O. Sutherland, F. C. Grant, Wm. Bladen, Dr. Beaton, F. F. Lewis, Arthur Harris, Alex. Galbraith and H. F. Bliss.

FOSTER BACK SOON; GRIFFITH PLEASED

Eddie Foster.
Reports from Washington have it that Eddie Foster, whirlwind third sacker of the Senators, and now recuperating from an attack of typhoid fever, will be back at third corner for Clark Griffith soon. Foster made an enviable record for the Senators last year, batting for a mark of .255 and fielding .920. In addition the peppery little third baseman is long on the gray matter, which is something particularly delightful the heart of the foxy leader, himself a scientific player, of no mean degree.

HARVARD IS VICTOR IN FOUR OARED RACE

Regatta Course, New London, Conn., June 20.—Harvard won an easy victory over Yale today in the varsity four-oared two mile race; the crimson bladed crew crossing the finishing line five lengths ahead of the Yale oarsmen. The contest was rowed in a busy rain and the rippled surface of the Thames caused slow time. The official time of the winner was 11 minutes and 52 seconds; Yale, 12 minutes and 11 seconds. Yale caught the water first, but the Harvard crew soon put the nose of their shell to the fore. The strongest even strokes of the Harvard men steadily opened up a gap between the two shells so that at the mile mark Yale was two lengths behind. This lead was increased to three lengths at a mile and three quarters. Harvard flashed over the finish line five lengths ahead. The Yale crew was in bad shape at the end of the contest, number two almost collapsing.
The struggle for honors between the first year crews was a real race. Although the crimson won the showing of the Eli youngsters was excellent. The closeness of the race was shown by the fact that only four seconds separated winner and loser. Harvard finished the two miles in 10 minutes, 41 seconds as against Yale's time of 10 minutes, 45 seconds.

CATTLE AND THE TARIFF.

It can be assumed with reasonable certainty that cattlemen are to lose whatever benefit they have enjoyed (if any) from the protective tariff. It is a question of importance, therefore, as to their ability to meet the changed conditions they claim will result from a tariff revision.

A study of the cattle industry for the past twenty years will show some phases in its development to which the tariff is a total stranger. For instance, in 1907 the total number of cattle in the United States was 22,500,000, of which less than 21,000,000 were milch cows, leaving 1,500,000 as "other cattle" from the meat supply comes. On the first of January of this year the total number was 26,500,000. Deducting the 20,500,000 milch cows, would leave but 6,000,000 head of steers and immature animals. This is a decrease of thirty per cent in six years. Obviously, the tariff has not built up the industry.

The United States did not lose its export trade because of the competition of Argentina. It lost it because it did not have the cattle to supply the trade. There can be no competition against our corn fed beef. So long as we had it, England bought it and paid the highest price for it. When the supply of cattle gave signs of falling, the packers changed their base of operations from the Mississippi Valley to Argentina, and supplied their foreign trade with South American grass beef. They dominate the beef business today as completely as when Argentina was of no importance in the trade.

As for Argentina, flooding this country with cheap beef, there is some doubt. It has been no light thing to take our place in the export business. Her cattle herds are not increasing in numbers; and every year grain farming will push back the grazing lands as it has done here. Dump all the cattle of Argentina into the United States, and, together with what we have, the per capita would approximate that of six years ago. No one was ruined then by too much beef. When Argentina can more than supply Europe, it will be time enough to shiver from dread of this competitor.

As for Mexico, the cattle there are sold at Fort Worth prices less the tariff, and when imported are sent to the farms to mature, and afterwards to the feed lots to be finished on corn and cottonseed meal. That is no cut-throat competition that any need fear. The United States turns out a product that sells at a premium over the other countries. The domestic and foreign markets want the best.

Land and labor cost more in the United States. The farmer must do as the manufacturer—increase efficiency and decrease waste. Save the billion dollars a year now wasted in corn stalks. Raise more to the acre, and thus decrease the cost of feed. Breed for rapid maturity and early marketing. With such a policy consistently pursued, even high-priced lands have little to fear from the pampas of Argentina.

The present high price of beef may be better understood by a careful study of these figures, from a financial journal. Times have been so good, during the past decade, that the home demand for beef has been in excess of the supply. The extensive slaughter of veal, which amounts to some thirteen million head annually, has also much to do with the scarcity and high prices. The high cost of living is a many-sided proposition, and nothing but a hard time, will materially change conditions.

EVIDENCE OF PROGRESS.

According to former Governor Hoard, Wisconsin is showing decided evidence of progress in matters material and political. It will be remembered that Governor Hoard was one of the men who first believed in the tales of the reformers and sought to aid them. Later finding the error of their ways, he deserted them and has since spent his time in explaining that they do not stand for real reform, but for personal exploitation. In his Jefferson County Union, Governor Hoard has the following to say relative to the situation that exists today, and as it is a comprehensive review of the conditions that are to be found in this reform-ridden state it is well worth serious consideration. He writes:

"Time was when the state government of Wisconsin was conducted in all departments in a dignified and respect-compelling manner. But that was before the days of Robert M. La Follette and his progressiveness. As the case now stands we have an unseemly quarrel on hand between the governor and the senator—a regular factional fight, which has at last got into the legislature with the La Follette senate ready to knife any proposition or measure the McGovern assembly is in favor of. And this stupid degeneracy of the self-respect these bodies once had for themselves and their duty to the state, is, we are told, the essence of progress. Of course it is, of the La Follette kind, for he has done nothing since he came into political being but quarrel with some one. But that is not all. Now comes the supreme court, a body of men who have always heretofore enjoyed the high respect of the legal fraternity and all good citizens in every state. The reason for this, as it is everywhere and among all men, is that its members have always had a high respect for each other and the position in the state government. To the profound astonishment of all a quarrel has broken out between Justices Timlin and Barnes in their disagreement of opinion in a certain case. After all it is only another evidence of the Kilkenny tendencies of this gross factionalism, first engendered by La Follette. It is in the university, in the legislature, in the state government, and now it has got into the supreme court. And this is the proud distinction Wisconsin has won in the nation as a progressive state. Fine, isn't it? How round we common people ought to be of our state and the men we have so progressively placed at the head of affairs."

EXPLANATORY NOTES.
Observations taken at 8 a. m., 7th meridian. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isotherms (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100°. Clear; partly cloudy; cloudy; rain; snow; report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figures, lowest temperature past 12 hours; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

The small barometric depression that was over the Dakotas yesterday has drifted slowly eastward and is now over southern Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas. Other depressions prevail in the heated regions of the southwest and northwest. Rain has fallen in showers and thunderstorms quite generally throughout the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys, and the Columbia basin and northern Rocky Mountain region. Scattered showers have also occurred in the east and south. High temperatures prevail in the middle Mississippi valley in Arizona, and in Montana and Alberta.

Make Him Content.
One of the principal duties entailed upon the housewife is insuring the comfort of the husband. Every man is contented so long as the solid comforts of life are his—so long as his meals are to his liking and his home always ready for his occupancy.

His Only Chance for Peace.
"A malcontent," mused the man at the head of the table, "is a man who is never satisfied with his lot. The only one that could bring peace to his rebellious spirit is the family lot."

Stolen Hair Means Death.
In many parts of the modern world the believer in witchcraft still gets hold of hair, nail parings and so forth from an enemy's head and hands, and burns, buries or does something else with them in order to entail unpleasant consequences upon that enemy. And universal folklore reveals the concern of savages to dispose of their own hair and nail clippings to prevent an enemy from getting at them. Australian native girls who have had a lock of hair stolen from them expect speedy death as a certainty.

Human Beings Owe Each Other HELP

I always felt that I owed it to humanity to save them the ordinary pain incident to dentistry. I have thought a practical remedy throughout my lifetime.

At last I can now give you real immunity from pain while I drill out the most sensitive teeth.

Ask me for the Painless work.

It Is Easier

To make money than to save it. You can easily name nine good earners to one good saver.

Most men would come to their old age with a snug provision for their declining years if they could save as well as they could earn.

Now is the time to make your start with a First National Bank Savings Book.

3% on Savings.

Your Will And The Executor

To be effective your will must name a competent executor. To entrust the management of your estate to any individual may be unwise. Though he have every qualification, he may fail to execute the trust because of absence, illness, misfortune or death.

If you appoint the Rock County Savings & Trust Company as Executor and Trustee under your will you are assured of uninterrupted, efficient administration at a minimum expense.

Your inquiries are invited.

Summer Literature at Gazette Travel Bureau

Vacation Land.—Handsomely illustrated literature featuring the lakes of Wisconsin and Minnesota with beautiful illustrations.

The Star Lake Country, Wisconsin.—People planning to visit some northern lake will find this map useful.

Summer Homes.—This booklet describes the various summer resorts in this state and adjoining states with information regarding hotel rates, transportation facilities, etc.

A Week's Cruise, $40.00.—A folder describing the lake trip from Chicago to Niagara Falls through Lakes Michigan, Huron, St. Clair and Erie, covered by the above figure will be interesting to many people favoring a lake trip.

There is a goodly supply of the literature mentioned above, which has been sent to the GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU for distribution.

The Bureau supplies free information about routes and rates to any point and is a subscriber to official railway guide.

ARCHBISHOP MESSMER PLANS TO OPEN NEW PARISH SCHOOL HERE

Archbishop Messmer of Milwaukee Transacts Business Relative to St. Mary's Church.

Archbishop S. G. Messmer of Milwaukee, was the guest of Rev. W. A. Goebel yesterday and while here transacted business in the interest of the St. Mary's church. It is the intention of the archbishop to open a parish school of three rooms capable of holding fifty students.

It is necessary that rooms will be built to accommodate two grades of pupils. The Dominican sisters of Racine will be employed as instructors and as this institution is the largest and best of its kind in the state it is certain that the school will be equipped with an efficient faculty. The building of such a school should be welcomed by the citizens of the second ward because of the congested conditions of the second ward school the evening of June 5. At about 5 p. m. that day he telephoned his mother that he had obtained work in the country and would be back for some other clothes. Since that time nothing has been seen or heard of him.

The boy is 14 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, rather dark brown complexion, large grey eyes, and is of a rather secretive or morose disposition. He wore a brown cap, gray coat blue serge pants and tan shoes. He may be in the company of an older person.

ASKS HELP OF POLICE TO FIND HIS LOST BOY

E. J. Mills, 920 Kirkwood Avenue, Iowa City, Ia., has written Chief of Police Ransom asking the help of the department in finding his son, Frank Mills, who disappeared from home on the evening of June 5. At about 5 p. m. that day he telephoned his mother that he had obtained work in the country and would be back for some other clothes. Since that time nothing has been seen or heard of him.

TAKE FIRST HONORS AT MONROE TOURNEY

Clinton Fire Laddies Make Fine Showing—Hold Parade Through Clinton Streets to Celebrate.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Clinton, June 20.—J. R. Switzer was the first fireman to return from Monroe and brought the glad tidings that the Clinton company of fire laddies had won first prize of $55 for fine appearance in big mile long fireman parade yesterday.

The balance of the company with the Marshall band returned on the noon train and all had a fine dinner at the Hotel Clinton and then in full uniforms headed by the band paraded through the principal streets giving our people the first opportunity to see their new uniforms.

If such is possible Clinton is more proud than ever of its most efficient fire company and all rejoice with them over their good luck. They are not only a company of good lookers, but are mighty good fire fighters also.

STEFANSSON SAILS FOR ARCTIC SEAS

Vilhjalmur Stefansson.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, left Victoria, B. C., a few days ago for the Arctic regions. He is at the head of the most important scientific expedition—as distinguished from an exploring expedition—that ever entered the polar regions.

He goes at the expense of the Canadian government, and will attempt to discover whether or not there is land in that vast unexplored area which lies to the north and west of Beaufort sea.

SENATORS FIND CONDITIONS IN WEST VA. BAD AS MINERS HAD PAINTED THEM

Senator Martine of New Jersey on investigating tour in West Virginia coal mining districts.

U. S. senators who have been investigating conditions in the West Virginia coal fields have found them about as bad as had been painted by the miners. In contrast to the wealth and luxury which surrounds the operators is the misery and want in the homes of their employees.

In the accompanying picture Senator Martine of New Jersey, who is a member of the senate committee, is seen leaving a miner's cabin in the Cabin Creek strike zone where he and other senators went to secure first hand information regarding the strike situation.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville, June 20.—Although the task of moving the depot is progressing slowly, it is surely making headway, and within a few days the workmen are expected to arrive. Much of the material required is already on the spot.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Brown of Footville, were callers in town Wednesday evening.

Mr. Ed. Reeder spent Thursday in Janesville.

G. Clemenson is at present in North Dakota on a short visit with his son, Carl, at Bowman.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Keesey have had as their guest the past few days Mrs. Carrie Knudson of Kenosha. Mrs. Knudson is visiting other relatives near here also.

Miss Marion Howe is visiting in Evansville this week, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gray.

S. Cleveland was in Monroe Thursday, accompanied by his grandsons.

The Young People's society of the Lutheran church will meet in the church parlors Friday evening. Everyone is invited.

The tournament at Monroe, called a number of people from here Thursday, including the local firemen. These took the nine o'clock special train. This was fortunate, as those intending to take the eleven o'clock passenger going west were obliged to wait three hours, the train being that much late.

Miss Ora Kaatrud, daughter of Peter Kaatrud, was married Wednesday noon to Mr. Nordin Olson of Bloomington, Minn. The ceremony was performed at the Kaatrud home in Spring Valley, by the Rev. J. Linnevold of Edgerton, before a small company of relatives and friends. The couple left in an automobile for a short wedding trip.

MILTON JUNCTION

Milton Junction, June 20.—Dr. E. B. Hull spent Wednesday at Whitewater. Miss Miriam West is home from Madison for the summer.

The Misses Helen and Winifred Goodrich are spending a few days with relatives at Delavan.

Miss Hazel Moriarty is a guest of relatives at Afton.

Mrs. Williams and son of Janesville, spent Wednesday with her brother, M. A. Richardson.

Leo Thatcher has gone to his home in Mazomania, having finished his work here as night operator at C. M. & St. P. depot.

DO A BIG BUSINESS
AT FEEDING YARDS

Large Amount of Western Livestock Put in Condition for Market at Edgerton.

An unusually large amount of business has been done at the Edgerton feeding yards at Edgerton during the past year which closed with the last consignment of sheep sent to the market the first of the week. The feeding station was established several years ago and has enjoyed exceptional prosperity, especially during the last season. Thousands of head of sheep from the western ranges are put in condition for the Chicago market at this yard.

Since last fall their have been received at these yards 25,260 sheep and lambs, over twenty thousand of which were kept on full feed and fattened for market. The balance were stopped off for from a few days to a week or more for a grass fill before being forwarded. In addition, 1765 hogs, 225 cattle and 25 horses also passed through the yards on their way to market. In all, the yard consumed the record shows 2,203,840 pounds of screenings, 1,012,750 pounds of hay, 395,400 pounds of corn and 20,900 pounds of oats were fed during the year. The bill up to more than $30,000. Had the capacity of the sheds been larger, Mr. Biederman could easily have increased the business the past season very largely as he was compelled to refuse accommodations for 15 to 20 more sheep that would have gone on full feed at a time when the yards were filled.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

LYNCHING.
By Howard L. Rann.

A LYNCHING is a polite form of sudden death which is figured on a hangman's wheel. While the deed is not one to be emulated, it is nevertheless a fact that a thorough, workmanlike job of lynching has a very discouraging effect upon people who are thinking of committing murder in the first degree.

Some communities have more of a penchant for lynchings than others, as it is sometimes the only form of punishment they have. The habit of lynching every body who was within four miles of the scene of the crime grew out of the failure of the courts to convict the accused until he became an old, gray-headed man and everybody in the community could recollect whether he was on trial for manslaughter or petty larceny on a chicken coop. It was aggravating to see somebody who had stolen a $300 saddle horse languishing in the county jail on a charge of larceny, and a jury for eighteen months before a jury was empaneled, when everybody knew he was guilty and thirsted for a chance to prove it at $1.35 per day.

Sometimes the courts are not adequate to express the satisfaction of the community, in which case a bonfire is built on the public square, with the accused officiating as fuel. After drawing one of these incendiary sentences, which are usually a total loss without insurance, the murderously inclined will decide not to kill anybody until they have a chance to ring in a few supreme court decisions.

It occasionally happens that a lynching has to be repeated three or four times before the guilty party is located, but this doesn't hurt anybody's feelings but those of the deceased. Lynchings are always preceded by a voluntary confession, secured by making the accused into proper sense of his duty. This saves court costs and enables everybody to go to church, the following Sunday and listen to a sermon on brotherly love.

There would be fewer lynchings if it didn't take the courts an average of four years to convict one criminal who was caught red-handed.

LINK AND PIN

Chicago And Northwestern.
NEW SYSTEM OF WEED KILLINGS HAS BEEN MADE

A new system for killing weeds and vegetable growth along the right-of-ways of the Northwestern railroad is being used on the Chicago divisions and if successful will be used on the divisions running through Janesville. The huge tank about five feet in diameter as the one used on the street flushers is loaded on a flat car and the poison that is used to kill the weeds is forced out of the tank by compressed air. It is claimed that the chemical solution used will not only kill the weeds but prevent them from growing during a period of three years making the road bed as barren as a desert. If the plan is found successful it means a saving of many thousands of dollars to the railroads and better tracks.

Robert Erdman, who was taken to the St. Luke's hospital in Chicago, is an operation is improving very slowly and despite that the operation performed a month ago was successful. His condition is very critical. Erdman was struck on the eye by a baseball and some time afterwards an abscess formed and broke. He was taken to the Chicago hospital where the best of medical attention was given him and skillful operation performed. He was employed as call boy at the roundhouse and his many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

An engine of the latest and best type is being stored at the roundhouse at the present time awaiting passenger service. It is the heaviest locomotive that the Northwestern railroad uses and is known to the railroad men as 4-6-2 type. It is superheated and capable of pulling a passenger train of twenty-five coaches at an enormous rate of speed.

Charles Garbutt is laying off on account of sickness.

An increased force has been added to the roundhouse of late because of the added number of big Z freight engines which have been sent here from the Wisconsin division for repairs. Engine 719 which has been in the roundhouse for the past week for overhauling will be finished tomorrow. Freight engines 714 and 749 will be brought to the shops for repairs

Why is the soda cracker today—such a universal food?

People ate soda crackers in the old days, it is true—but they bought them from a barrel or box and took them home in a paper bag, their crispness and flavor all gone.

FAVORABLE WEATHER FOR TRANSPLANTING

Plenty of Rains Have Insured a Good Stand in Newly Planted Tobacco Fields.

The new tobacco crop is now going into the fields under about as favorable conditions as is often experienced in the state, says the Edgerton Reporter. The soil is in such fine physical condition, charged with plenty of moisture that there ought to be no trouble in securing a fine stand, barring the work of cut worms, which up to this time have been quite troublesome. Warm weather has brought along the plant beds so rapidly of late that growers and the work of transplanting is being pushed from this time on in the tobacco fields. It begins to look that the end of the month will see the crop practically out.

A hot wave with frequent heavy storms has interfered somewhat with the transplanting of the tobacco crop which is now going into the fields throughout the growing sections of the state. In some localities these storms have given heavy rainfalls that flooded the fields and washed out plants already set, while hail fell in sufficient quantities to damage both plant beds and the fields as well. The soil has been so thoroughly drenched by the recent rains that there ought to be no difficulty in obtaining a good stand of living plants as the transplanting proceeds. The warm days, too, have pushed the growth of the plants along so rapidly that growers will be pushing from this time on in getting the crops into the fields.

No news of importance has transpired in the cured leaf markets. It is no longer a secret that quite a little of the 1912 forced sweat Wisconsin leaf is being all the time fed the market to meet the demands of a short binder supply and the new leaf is giving very general satisfaction to manufacturers and commanding good prices as well. The shipments-out of storage since late report reached 350 cases to all points from this market.

HEAVY LOSSES SUSTAINED IN WAUKESHA COLLISION

Heavy losses resulted from the rear end collision of the two freight trains on the St. Paul road in the wreck near Waukesha Thursday morning. The wreck was due to a defect in the air brakes.

Twenty freight cars were completely demolished and twelve of these were loaded with valuable merchandise. Five destroyed the entire lot in an incredible short space of time. Two car loads of hogs, one of cheese, two of malted foods and several of wood and grain were among the ruins.

Brakeman Charles Goyer was seriously injured and Conductor Frank Keps slightly hurt in a derailment of a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul freight train on the northern division at Fox Lake, last night.

Watch Your Baby
These Summer Days

Little Stomachs Get Out of Order Easily in Hot Weather.

During the hot months mothers should look very carefully to the condition of the bowels of babies and young children, and for that matter, it is very important in the lives of people at all ages. Care should be taken that the water is pure, the milk wholesome and the fruit ripe (though not over-ripe) and that not too much of anything is eaten.

When trouble results it is usually in the form of constipation, or diarrhoea. If the child loses appetite, is fretful or languid, and complains of headache, you may look for constipation. Give it a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring, and by morning the pleasant laxative will have acted and the child will be its normal self again.

At the first sign of a summer cold also give Syrup Pepsin, as the clearing out of the bowels will usually be sufficient to break the cold. Summer diarrhoea can be stopped in the same way by riding the bowels of the poison and germs that cause the trouble. This opinion of the value of Syrup Pepsin is shared by thousands of people like Mrs. Ella Denzel, Nichols Ave., Stratford, Conn., who uses it successfully herself and gives it to her two little boys; and Mrs. C. C. Allen of New Monterey, Cal., who finds it in every particular just what she and her family need.

Avoid giving children cathartics, purgatives, pills or powders, as they are too harsh. Confine yourself to a gentle laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You can obtain it of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter being the family size.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it, postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 418 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

corn, every time, as sure as the sun rises. It takes about 2 seconds to apply it. Corns pain stop. You forget the corn. The corn shrivels up, and it's gone! Ever try anything like that? You never did. There's no more fussing with plasters that press on the corn, no more salves that take on the surrounding flesh, no more bandages. No more knives, files or razors that make corns grow, and cause danger of blood poisoning. "GETS-IT" is equally harmless to healthy or irritated flesh. It gets every corn, wart, callus and bunion you've got. "GETS-IT" is sold at all drug stores. At 25 cents a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. ## The Argyle Case

A Novelization by J. W. McConaughy of the Successful New Play by Harriet Ford, Harvey J. O'Higgins and Detective William J. Burns, in Which Robert Hilliard Is Appearing :: ::

Copyright, 1912, by Journal-American-Examiner.

Argyle flushed slightly and his eyes shifted.

"Well—I—," he began.

"As a matter of fact," broke in Kayton abruptly, "just who was it that you thought you saw?"

Argyle's uneasiness increased. "Well, I don't want to say that I saw any one," he said reluctantly.

"You understand," said Kayton, with a stern frown, "that it might be very important that some one should have seen you leave this house."

"Oh—I see—well," the young man declared with the air of a man doing an extremely unpleasant duty. "I thought as I was going out that I saw somebody looking over the banister rail."

"What made you look up at the banister rail?" demanded Kayton, suppressing any trace of elation.

"I suppose I must have heard something," conceded Argyle grudgingly.

"Was it Miss Mazuret?" The question was almost a command.

"The young man winced. "It might have been one of the maids," he parried.

"Why didn't you speak to her?"

"I wasn't sure and she drew back. Look here, Hurley!" He wheeled on the lawyer with a glare. "You needn't give this to the papers. God knows what they'd make of it! They'd have Mary up there just waiting to—"

"Now, my dear fellow, don't be absurd!" interrupted the lawyer testily.

"The thing that strikes me as most significant is the telephone message. Don't you think so, Mr. Kayton?"

Kayton faced about on him.

"What do you see significant in it?" he inquired brusquely.

Mr. Hurley digested slightly. He did not like the way in which his words were caught up every time.

"Well, now, I'll tell you about that," he declared. "You see, the person who called him up must have known his private telephone number. That would indicate some one who was familiar with the house and—"

"Yes," said Kayton encouragingly as the lawyer paused.

"And the fact that he was disturbed by the message, but said nothing of it."

"What do you see significant in it?" might argue that it was some one known to him who was in a position to annoy him—possibly an old servant."

Kayton made no comment on this theory.

"Had he any business enemies?" he inquired.

"Well now," began the lawyer again.

and Kayton made a movement of impatience. "I'll tell you about that. You understand, of course, that I've only recently been associated with Mr. Argyle, and he didn't consult me about everything, but naturally a man of his many interests must have made enemies."

Bruce had been walking impatiently about the room while this conversation took place, and he now came forward.

"Mr. Kayton," he said desperately, "you may not be able to prove who did this. We'll be satisfied if you'll only prove that Miss Mazuret didn't."

"Well," replied the detective gravely, "the best way to prove who didn't kill your father is to prove who did kill him. Is this Miss Mazuret?"

A tall, slender girl with great masses of deep brown hair and great dark, serious eyes came slowly into the room. Her cleanly cut, oval face was as white as her negligee gown, and she was plainly struggling to keep her composure.

"Yes," she said. "Mr. Kayton?"

"Yes," he replied with a bow. Bruce went swiftly to her and put his arm about her.

"You oughtn't to be down here, Mary," he reproached tenderly, with the air of an affectionate big brother.

"There's no need for it. You look awfully ill, Mary. It's too much for you. Please go back."

"I sent for Miss Mazuret," interposed Kayton quietly, his gaze on the girl's pale face.

"But, Mr. Kayton," protested Bruce, "you don't understand. It's too much to ask her to come down here. It's the first time the room has been opened since—"

"No, no, Bruce," the girl interrupted gently. "It's all right now, please!"

"I should like to have a talk with Miss Mazuret alone if you don't mind," said Kayton in the same quiet tones, addressing the two men. But young Argyle was in open rebellion.

"She's had enough to bear," he declared angrily. "I'm not going to have her put through any third degree!"

The detective's lips came together in a razorlike line.

"Just a moment, Mr. Argyle," he said icily. "Before we go any further with this investigation I want you to understand clearly that I am in sole charge of it."

"This is nonsense, Bruce!" exclaimed Mr. Hurley, coming forward. "Mr. Kayton has got to question Miss Mazuret if he's going to be of any help to her or to us. Come along with me."

But the young man refused to budge.

"Mary, don't you want me to stay here with you?" he asked. The girl took his arm and gently pushed him toward the door.

"No, no, thank you, Bruce," she replied steadily. "It's all right; please go."

He led her to a chair and made her sit in it and then reluctantly allowed Hurley to lead him out.

Kayton sighed wearily, drew up a chair near to the girl's and sat down.

"Miss Mazuret," he said gently in his most courteous manner. "I can understand that this affair has been a great shock to you. And you feel the loss of Mr. Argyle probably more than any one. I don't need to say that I sympathize with you thoroughly and that I don't want to do anything or ask anything that will distress you. But a murder has been committed, and if I am going to clear up these suspicious I must have the co-operation of everybody in the house, and especially you."

"Yes, yes!" exclaimed the girl, with a pathetic eagerness that stirred the man beneath the expert's professional exterior. "I want to do everything—anything I can."

He nodded and smiled gratefully.

"Now, let's see," he began in the friendliest tone. "Where were you born?"

"In San Francisco," replied Miss Mazuret. She began to feel strangely at home with this masterful stranger.

"Do you remember your mother?"

"No." She shook her head. "I don't remember either my father or my mother very well. I was too young when they died."

"And you have no relatives?"

There was a moving quality of sympathy in the gentle voice.

"None that I ever heard of."

"There is no one who would inherit this money from you or have any other reason for wishing you to get it?"

"Oh, no!" gasped the girl, horrified at the thought.

"Did Mr. Argyle ever object to your intimacy with any friends?"

"Why," said the girl wonderingly, "our life was so retired I met hardly any one."

"No man wished to marry you?"

"Oh, no!" was the quick reply. And

Kayton vaguely wondered why he should have felt a sense of personal relief. "Mr. Argyle wanted Bruce to go," she went on with hesitation, "but we couldn't. That was impossible. We were like brother and sister."

The great detective nodded with unnecessary conviction and remarked:

"Then you have no reason for suspecting any one?"

This question was accompanied by an unusually keen gaze. The girl trembled violently and put her handkerchief to her lips.

"Oh, no, no!" she gasped. Then she stared wildly about, rose to her feet and burst into hysterical sobs. Kayton was beside her in an instant.

"What is it? What's the matter?" he demanded, and felt an impulse to put his arm about her as Bruce had done.

"I don't know—I—," sobbed the girl, her face buried in her hands—"I don't seem to be able to control myself any longer."

Kayton touched a slender arm with clumsy solicitude.

"Wait—wait a moment," he urged her kindly.

"It's horrible," sobbed the muffled voice. "It's all so horrible! It's worse down here! I can't help thinking of him on the floor—this floor—"

"Won't you try to put it out of your mind?" begged Kayton. "I want to help you."

The girl struggled bravely, for self-control and lowered her hands, disclosing a lovely, tear-stained face.

"Yes, I know that," she said tremulously, darting him a look. "I haven't been like this before. I haven't talked about it to any one—I couldn't. I've tried to keep from reading the papers, but I had to—I read them all, and they're getting worse about me every day until it seemed as if the whole city—"

How is it possible they can make it all so probable?" she cried piteously, the tears streaming unchecked down her face. "Shall I have to go through a trial?"

"Oh, I think not," he said reassuringly. "We'll hardly let that happen. Now, tell me," he went on with gentle insistence, "you went to your room rather early that night? About 9:30?"

"Yes." The word came out uncertainly, but the storm was evidently over. Kayton, with almost womanly kindness, placed her in her chair again and sat beside her.

"Leaving Mr. Argyle and his son alone?" he went on encouragingly.

"Yes."

"You heard the son go?"

"Yes."

"You saw him go?"

A pause, and more slowly, "Yes," very slowly, as if to be sure of each word, "and I was a little alarmed. I got up—and opened my door."

"You heard voices?" suggested the detective as she paused.

"Yes—"

"Mr. Argyle's?"

"Yes—"

"Did you know who was with him?"

The question came swiftly on the heels of her answer. "It brought a new expression to her dark eyes—terror."

"I—I wasn't sure," she replied with a desperate effort.

"Did you hear anything that sounded like a struggle?"

"No. They had closed the door."

"But you did hear angry voices?"

No reply.

"Didn't you?" insisted the detective sharply. "There was a very faint and reluctant 'Yes.'"

Dinner Stories

"A local art connoisseur" tells of a colony that he overheard between two women who were viewing a copy of Millet's "Gleaners."

"How beautiful. How wonderful! What art! exclaimed one. 'Above all, how natural!'"

Then, after a pause. "But what are those people doing?" Drawing near to them, she was enlightened. "Oh, now," she added, "I see! Gleaning millet!"

Senator Joseph L. Bristow of Kansas contributed this one at a recent banquet when reference was made to the sometime doubtful age of the fair sex.

In a village school a short time ago, so ran the senator's anecdote, the teacher was instructing a class of small youngsters in history, whose lesson for that day related to the Civil war. The wish of the teacher was to impress on the minds of the children how long ago it had occurred.

"Just think, children," she carefully remarked, glancing up and down the class, "that terrible war was fought so long ago that even I do not remember it."

Gee, Miss Mary!" earnestly exclaimed one of the wondering kids. "Was it before the flood?"

The Ascension of Christ

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D. D.
Dean of the Moody Bible Institute
Chicago.

TEXT—When he had spoken these things, he was taken up and a cloud received him out of their sight. Acts 1-8.

This period of the Christian year is especially appropriate to consider that transcendent event in the earthly history of our Saviour referred to in these words viz: His ascension into heaven. The incarnation, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ are each and all of them incomplete without the ascension.

Just as that event awaits the fruition of its purpose in his return again to the earth; for it is not till then that the divine plan concerning his manifested kingdom will begin to approach fulfillment.

But that which gives peculiar interest to Christ's ascension is its bearing on our spiritual life today, for if we are being established in the faith, enlightened in the knowledge of God, sanctified in our souls and anointed by the Holy Spirit for service, all blessings are the result of our Saviour's presence in heaven as our interceding high priest at the right-hand of God.

At the ascension the body of Jesus did not vanish into nothing, for not only did the disciples see him as he went up, but Stephen beheld him afterwards, standing at the right-hand of God (Acts VII. 55-56). Moreover, the angels on Mount Olivet said to the disciples that he would so come in like manner as he was seen to go (Acts 1-11). In other words, heaven is a locality and Jesus Christ, the glorified God-man, is there. We cannot understand how the original body of Jesus was transmuted into his resurrection and glorified body, any more than we can understand how heavy water is changed into light vapor, or dark flint into transparent glass, by heat; but we know that he is in the same body, although now in another form of existence and standing under other laws. How the thought dignifies our conception of human nature and broadens our idea of the scope of the atonement! The presence of his glorified body in heaven takes away any vagueness as to our own glorified bodies being there, if we have been united to him by a living faith—because he lives, we shall live also.

Was it not the reward of his obedience to the father in his sufferings and death on behalf of guilty men? Was it not the joy set before him for which he was willing to endure the cross, despising the shame? And yet there is more to follow, when, in the regeneration of the heavens and the earth, he shall sit upon the throne of his power in the sight of the whole universe, and every knee shall bow to him and every tongue confess that he is Lord, to the glory of God the father (Philippians II. 9-11).

Of course we speak now, only of his human nature, of the God-man considered as the mediatorial prince. Such terms do not pertain to his deity, in which sense his glory could not be enhanced and the thought of reward is entirely excluded.

But the ascension of Jesus Christ means great things for us who believe on him as well as great things for himself. It means the reinstatement of our nature in all its lost honors, a reconciliation with God. It means our reception into Paradise and participation in endless felicity. If Christ had risen from the dead and still remained on earth, we might have been assured of deliverance from the grave, and possibly a protracted residence there; but what we desire before all things is reunion with God, the habitation of glory and the communion of his presence. The ascension secures this.

Oh, you to whom these truths have no meaning, in whose esteem they are as foolishnesses, think what you are losing now, and shall forever lose, if they be true! I would have you follow the example of John Keble, who, conscious of his groveling thoughts which lay half buried, roamed lawlessly around this earthly waste, exclaimed:

"Chains of my heart, avast, I say—
I will arise, and in the strength of love
Pursue the bright track 'ere it fade away,
My Saviour's pathway to His Home above."
But it is useless to urge a man to do this without telling him how to do it. When, or how, can one obtain this "strength of love" of which the poet speaks? How can he pursue "the right track" whose eyes are blinded by sin other things of the present world? Who will seek the "home above" unless he shall be awakened to its glories? It is God only who can accomplish these things in human experience, and he begins the work by weakening the ties of earth, and revealing the loathsomeness of sin and the peril of unbelief.

The Blinding Effect of Sin. (Temperance Lesson.) Amos vi:1-8.

Golden Text—Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live. Amos v:14.

(1.) Verse 1—What and where was Zion, and what does the word generally mean?

(2.) What is meant by being "at ease in Zion"?

(3.) Why would you say it is sin to be "at ease in Zion" and what is the "woe" connected with it?

(4.) Can one be a true Christian and not do his utmost for the protection and the extension of the cause of God? Why?

(5.) How much should we trust in human defenses such as money, friends, health, etc.?

(6.) What evidence is there, if any, that the chief men of the leading nations today are God fearing men?

(7.) In what are the leading nations mostly putting their trust? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(8.) Verse 2—How do Christian nations compare with other nations in general happiness and prosperity?

(9.) How do individual Christians compare with those who are not Christians in point of happiness and prosperity?

(10.) Verse 3—What is the inevitable "evil day" that will come to every sinner?

(11.) In what sense does the drinking habit "cause the seat of violence to come near"?

(12.) Verses 4-5—What was it which history states caused the destruction of ancient Greece and Rome?

(13.) Wherein lies the danger of a life of ease and of luxurious indulgence?

(14.) What do you consider to be luxuries?

(15.) What effect do luxuries produce upon those who indulge in them and upon those who look on and see the indulgence?

(16.) May a rich man have luxurious food, home, furniture, carriages, dress and everything else to match and be well pleasing to God?

(17.) Is it right to eat or drink or gratify any other physical desire at any time for the sole purpose of the pleasure derived? Why?

(18.) Verse 6—Do beautiful music, grand organ playing, exquisite solo singing and magnificent chorus work promote spiritual religion? Give your reasons.

(19.) Are those who sing and play most and best, as a rule, the most devout and useful people? Give your reasons.

(20.) Verse 6—How is it that active Christians do not drink strong drink and that those who do are generally outside of the churches?

(21.) Verses 7-8—What is the certain fate of all who indulge in strong drink, and what is it which now blinds them to their coming doom?

Bad luck may come this year or next, and put me out of kilter, but I am not distressed or vexed, my eyes no teardrops filter. I'd rather think that coming days will brighter be and better, and so I sing my song of praise, and whoop and cheer and shout my cheer.

No aunt can break a brave man's heart until she's in his cottage. Ten million chumps, all over the earth, are always muffled-drumming, and missing all there is of mirth, through fear of what's a-coming. Oh, friends, today let us be glad and keep our tops aspinning; and if tomorrow we are said the next day we'll be grinning! Let's always keep our smiles on straight, to sorrow make resist; and no folly's greater than to wait for troubles in the distance.
